

Become an Online Volunteer

Do you want to use your skills to support peace and development worldwide? As an Online Volunteer, you can contribute meaningfully — fully online, flexibly, and on your own schedule.

General Info

You can become an Online Volunteer if you:

- Are 18+ years old
- Have any level of experience — from students to experienced professionals
- Are motivated to contribute your skills for good
- Can support short-term, task-based assignments (up to twelve weeks)

About Us

United Nations Volunteers (UNV) contributes to global peace and development through volunteerism. We work with the UN to integrate qualified, motivated and well-supported UN Volunteers into development programmes and to promote the value and recognition of volunteerism.

Our volunteers bring diversity, innovation, and a strong community focus to complement the UN workforce.

What kind of tasks can you support?

Online Volunteers come from diverse backgrounds and contribute to a wide range of activities, including:

- Data analysis, digitalization, and mapping
- Education and training
- Social media outreach and networking
- Awareness raising
- Web development
- Artificial Intelligence
- Large-language models

“Even though the collaboration was fully online, the experience felt just as meaningful and impactful as working on-site, it reinforced my belief that value comes from purpose and contribution, regardless of location.”

Act now, volunteer

Online Volunteering offers a flexible platform to tackle today's sustainable development challenges from any device, anywhere in the world. The assignments are task-based, for a duration not exceeding 12 weeks.

What's in it for you?

Skills development

Strengthen your existing skills while building new competencies through practical tasks.

Recognition

Receive an e-certificate of appreciation for your contribution.

Learning opportunities

Access UNV public learning resources to support your personal and professional growth.

Global exposure

Gain first-hand experience with UN entities, governments, and civil society organizations.

Online Volunteering is a free of charge and non-contractual engagement, therefore no financial compensation is available.
